INTRODUCTION

SCOPE

This policy applies to all of the Learners and its prospective Learners on all learning programmes with Northern Risk Management.

DEFINITIONS 'Information advice and guidance' denotes a range of impartial guidance activities and processes that can support choices made by Learners, the key elements of which are defined as follows:

Information within the context of the IAG service means the provision of information on learning and work, without any discussion about the relative merits of the options through:

- printed material such as leaflets;
- audio-visual materials such as videos;
- computer software or via the internet; and
- verbal information to the Learner on a face basis or through local or national help line services

Advice requires more interaction with the Learner, usually on a one to one basis. It may require explanation of some of the information provided, how to access and use information, and a recognition of when more in-depth services may be required by the Learner.

Guidance is an in-depth interview or other activity conducted by a trained adviser which helps clients to explore a range of options, to relate information to their own needs and circumstances to make decisions about their career (i.e. their progression in learning and work).
